i) The Seller's failure to deliver the goods in compliance with the delivery schedule; or

ii) The Seller's failure to comply, within 15 days of having received written notice from the Buyer, with any other provisions of the Purchase Order, which resultantly endangers the performance of this Order.

A notice of default will be given by the Buyer to the Seller. If the Seller is in default, the Buyer may terminate this Order, or any part thereof, and may avail of all rights and remedies provided by Law or under this Order, including but not limited to the procurement of similar goods from other suppliers, on such terms and conditions as Buyer determines to be appropriate, and charging the Seller for any excess cost thereby incurred, in addition to any other damages suffered by Buyer as a result of the default.
